Our Temperance Platform:

THE CITIZEN makes the following Declaration of Principles as to the traffic in intoxicating liquors:

1. That the use of liquor is not in itself sinful.

2. That its abuse is a dreadful evil, demanding interference by the State. 3. That the present license system is an unmitigated curse to family, church and state.

should say-no rum at all. debate or decision.

6. That effectual prohibition is impracticable, but that regulation, even to the point of making drunkenness as rare as theft, is entirely within reach, if the people have the courage to undertake the work and the faith to carry it on.

7. That High License is for us an at tainable, enforceable and efficacious reg-

8. That all varieties of temperance peo ple should unite to secure such legislation.

The Granting of Licenses.

To thoughtful people only one conclusion is possible as to the indiscriminate sale of liquor. It is evil, and only evil, and that continually. In reaching such a decision it is not necessary to comment upon the moral act involved in the consumption of a single glass of ale, wine or beer. The use of these may to some involve no danger. To the mass of human ity saloon-drinking involves loss of time. loss of money, loss of respect, and of health, with bad associations leading to crime of all sorts. No judge or juryman can have failed to discern the intimate connection of saloons with crime. We say this knowing many estimable men who use liquor at home and abroad with out apparent injury to themselves or their families. Yet even industrious and thoughtful drinkers, without prejudice, upon sober thought, must admit the injury which liquor causes to young men, the thoughtless, the discontented, and the weak. Even such must allow that taking it all in all, the world would be better without it; that were it wiped out entirely the lessening of crime, misery, and wretchedness, would amply atone for the loss of its medicinal virtues.

Upon such a conclusion the license laws of civilized countries are based. Respecting the wishes of those who desire its use, the law contemplates such restraints as shall lessen or prevent its ill effects. It is fair to ask, "Does it so prevent the evils of liquor selling?" The evils to be guarded against are especially the overwide distribution of the traffic, disturbance to the Christian Sabbath, and the encouraging of drunkenness among young men. Does it prevent these?

Does it? This is an exciting question. No one desires his individual freedom curtailed. The selling and buying of liquor are dearly-loved privileges; but let us be honest. Are they exercised without danger to the community? Are even the slack laws upon the statute books enforced? Is it any use to ask their enforcement? A little plain truth will do no harm. The times demand true answers and a dispassionate discussion of these questions. The hard facts are these. There is no restraint except such as the payment of a license, and the presentation of a proper petition requires. Laws against secret selling on Sunday and selling to minors will not be enforced; nor will any influence be used to guard against the spread of the traffic. Petitions to courts are vain; testimony is also vain. The courts are presided over by judges favorable to the liquor interest, grand jurors are appointed, county officers are elected because of their real or supposed championship of the same cause. What shall be done? Talk prohibition? You can't secure it. If secured its enforcement in mains but one of two things: to arouse a sentiment so strong as shall compel the enforcement of law, and the hurling of inefficient officers from power; or the passage of a more stringent law which can and will be enforced.

High license is, we believe, the need of the hour. This will prevent in a measure the evils complained of; it will enable the orderly members of the community to put a limit to the injury done and pave the way for a healthier public sentiment. Such a form the temperance movement is taking in other States. Temporarily defeated in Ohio, it is coming again to the front with renewed power. In New York the Church Temperance Society, under direction of such men as Howard Crosby and Robert Graham, has prepared a new law for presentation to the Legislature at its coming session, demanding that the fee for selling distilled liquors shall be $1,000, and for fermented liquors $100. Other restraining clauses are added. In commenting upon them the Society says: We have sought to deal with this question as practical men, not as doctrinaires: we believe absolute prohibition an impossibility in great cities, the that only effective means by which a reduction of saloons in cities can be effected is by the method of high license."

Such a law should receive the support of moderate friends of temperance, drinkers as well as total abstainers, those who pity the victim of drink, and would rither increase his temptation nor add new victims to those already enslaved.

There are many signs pointing to a new political interest in this question. The absence of other topics of debate may easily give it an influence unlooked-for by professional politicians. When once aroused the voice of the people is authoritative enough to command obedience. United public sentiment is well-nigh irre-4. That were we compelled to decide sistible. In the past, it has been divided between free rum and no rum at all, we upon this question. There is good reason to believe that it may be collected 5. That this is not the issue, either for about the banner of High License and a rigid enforcement of law.

> The Republicans of New York have set a good example to the party in the nominations made by them for their State ticket this fall. In the face of Democratic ascendancy both at Washington and Albany, they have met and united upon a ticket of exceptional strength and character. There is not a weak man in the whole list, and Davenport, Carr and Wadsworth have each the prestige of having already been chosen by the voters of the Empire State to offices of trust and honor, which they have filled with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the people. There ought to be no Mugwumps in New York this year.

----The Democrats are not in good fight ing trim today in New York. The election of Cleveland has not secured all the offices, and those which have been filled by the administration so far only repre sent the victory of one faction over another. and so produce discord instead of harmony, weakness, instead of strength.

Gov. Hill is recognized as an anti-Cleveland candidate while Edward Cooper leads the Cleveland clan. Neither of these men has made a good record as a public officer, and if either is nominated for Governor bad feeling will be engendered, yet if both are thrust one side it will be difficult for their followers to agree upón a new man The case is full of difficulty and we suggest that John Kelly be chosen. He would get the support of Tammany Hall and that is worth some-Politics is likely to be unusually quiet here this fall. Only one candidate, the Member of Assembly, is to be elected, and he in a district where the Republicans have the "call." Truly this is a change from the stirring times of last year.

But it will do no harm to rest from the excitement incident to important political contests. Periods of quiet are the breeding time of new movements, when the old questions die out, and new ones come to the front. The temperance question seems just now to be looming up in the distance, and in time may become an important State or even national

The Prohibition Party in this district has held its convention, and as could have been safely predicted, have concluded to remain small and select, with a certainty of defeat. They have nominated an excellent man and tied him fast to an imnovable platform. They will have prohibition, pure and simple, or nothing. All regulation by law is wrong, high license, because it involves license, local option, because there should be no option. Our Prohibition friends will have no halfway measures; it must be free rum or no rum; the old idea that all law is the result of growth is antiquated. Well, if it amuses them let them meet and resolve and nominate. The world will go on much as if they did not, and those really interested in accomplishing something in the cause of temperance will soon learn to consider them as a set of well-meaning idealists, and will push on past them to attain the attainable in temperance legislation, always reaching out for that which large cities is doubtful. There re- is before.

A Physician Saves an Engineer. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.: Dear Sir: I am an engineer on the Old Colony Rau-road, and run the Fall River boat train between Fall River and Lowell, residing in Taunton. For ten years I suffered every but death from dyspepsia. Often I had such binding sick headaches that I could scarcely sec. I think this was due partly to irregular habits of eating, and partly to the jar of the engine. Sometimes my head would snap like neural, ia, and again the pain would set-tle in my eyes, which would feel as big as a man's fists. My breath was very offen-ive, and my food soured as soon as it entered my stomach. In fact my stomac felt as though it were a great raw and sore surface, and what agony it gave perhaps you can ima fine.
In the summer and fall of 1876, when we had the heavy centennial travel, the constant jar brought on acute attacks nearly every week and I thought I should have to leave the road. But I kept at work until the next sprang. when I grew so much worse that I could virtually eat nothing, and concluded that my labor, and my life too.

Remember that I had tried every medicine I heard of and had been treated by some of the best physicians in Taunton and Lowell. At this critical time DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY was recommended to me. It was new to me, and with my experience of medicines, you can easily forgive me for saying that I had not a particle of faith in it.

I had taken it but a few days when I began to get better. The raw and sore feeling left my stomach, and the snapping 1 mms left my head, and soon I was all right, and have been ever since. It is the only thing that ever did me the least good, and it drove every ache, pain and discomfort completely out of my body. Now I keep KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY with me on my en gine, and it goes whereever I go. Why, I believe FAVORITE REMEDY will cure anything. One night, a while ago, John Layton, an engreeer who rups the main line boat train from Boston, came on my engine sick as death. He was worn out with work, had a high fever, and was so pervons he almost broke down crying. "Nonsense, John." I said, "cheer up, I've got something on my engine that will set up in a jiffy." I took out my botile of FAVORITE REMEDY. jiffy." I took out my bottle of FAVORITE REMEDY litted his head and gave him a good dose. He went t bed. Two days after I saw him looking healthy as a butcher. "Dau," he said, "what was that stuff you gave me the other night?" "It was DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y., "said I. "Well, don't care whose Remedy it is, it's the thing for a man on the railroad." So say we all. Yours, etc., DANIEL FITTS.
